Kaapa Mbitjana Tjampitjinpa

Kaapa's paintings featured in the top 10 Aboriginal artists works at auction last year. We have a delightful 1974 board and a dance wand by this early Papunya artist. True collector's items!

New exhibitions

You are all in for a treat with an eclectic mix of shows coming up at Art Mob. Mick Quilliam's solo this month has some sensational works. Go online now and get in quickly to secure your piece! April's exhibition features some Gibson Desert paintings from Patjarr and Papulankutja (Blackstone). May's quite different with a number of recent watercolours from Central Desert artists in a show we've called "Beyond Battarbee". June will showcase new works from Dennis Nona and there's no stopping the annual Pink exhibition in July.

Stock works

We're sure you notice the red dots popping up regularly on our web site as works sell. After a few years – and the gallery will celebrate it's 7th birthday next month – there are too many red dots so we've had our web man condense our stock works pages down to just the unsold works. There's quite a few hours of browsing there for you to track down some treasures.

Arnhem Land

Barks Birds & Billabongs: Exploring the Legacy of the 1948 American-Australian Scientific Expedition is a symposium coming up in Canberra in November at the National Museum of Australia. This expedition unleashed huge interest in the art forms of this wonderful area. We have a good number of works available from more modern times. Visit West Arnhem Land Art under Artists on our web page.

Pansy Napangardi

Euan had a lightning trip to Alice Springs recently to catch up with renowned artist Pansy Napangardi. He has nominated her for both the major indigenous art awards coming up this year. A couple of large paintings came back to Hobart – one from 2000, the other quite recent.

Peter Overs

Peter has entered into an exclusive contract with another gallery so we have been offering our last stock at sensational prices. There are just a few left and you can see them at our marked down prices on our website. After 3 solo shows in our gallery and some years more of support it's sad to see him move on but we wish him well.

Bill Harney - LITTLE LIGHTNINGS

The imagery that Bill has used for this sculptures derives from rock art at Garnawala in Wardaman country. Two large Lightning Brothers are surrounded by a large group of "little lightnings". Bill also calls them mimis. He describes them as creation beings that were walking around in the Creation Time. Their images were frozen onto the rock walls when the dog's ear got split. Bill relates this creation story in his book Dark Sparklers.

$1000 each or $2700 for a family of three.
