DESERT MOB

The Araluen Centre at Alice Springs was busy early last month with institutional buyers, collectors, gallerists, art centre artists and staff plus many interested onlookers at the annual Desert Mob exhibition and art fair. Euan quickly bought 6 wonderful works for Art Mob stock – a 3 camel train by Johnny Young and paintings by leading Martu artist Minyawe Miller, Christabella Briscoe, Beyula Putungka Napanangka, Anmanari Brown and Albert Namatjira's grandson Vincent Namatjira. Vincent's piece (featured) was timely displayed just 2 days before the Federal election!

TJPAL TJARRI BROTHERS

It was in October 1984 that the "lost tribe" walked out of the desert having had no contact with white people. Now known as the Pintupi Nine their story is truly remarkable. Three of the Tjapaltjarri brothers Walala, Thomas and Warlimpirringa started painting their Tingari images soon after and continue today. We have 3 great trio's of their paintings currently in stock. Find them under the new web Themes on our Artists page.

VISION

Having had both cataracts removed – one earlier this year – Euan now has very reasonable vision. He reckons that helps if you are in the art business! It was heartening to hear that the Fred Hollows Foundation was focussing on Aboriginal eye health in Alice Springs recently. Too many of our Aboriginal artists age and lose their sight. Your gift of $25 (or more) can assist bringing back vision.

BASKETS FROM BULA'BULA

New in! We are pleased to add 8 superb baskets from Raminginning to our shelves of baskets in the gallery. Such skill in basket weaving continues in north east Arnhem Land where pandanus grows prolifically.

SPRING SALE

Wow! This sale had a great response with orders coming in immediately after our mail out. And there are plenty left for you to choose from with serious price reductions. See them from our web home page.

MEMORIES EXHIBITION

This exhibition launches on Friday October 11 and honours our artists who have passed on – may of whom we knew well and had great interaction with. For those of you who too knew them this show will bring back wonderful memories of these special artists. Sadly there are too many works in this exhibition.
